BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN MEET

Continuing its organizational business, the Hondo Business and Professional Women's Club met in its first regular session at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 18, in the community building of the Navigation Village, with twenty-four of its twenty-eight charter members present. In the business transactions which preceded a social hour, the president, Miss Lucille Newton, appointed the following standing committees:

salted nuts and iced tea.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday night, Oct. 16, at which time Mrs. V. H. Eoon and Mrs. Ed
Cameron will be hostesses.

CAPT. MEYER RELIEVED FROM DUTY

On Wednesday of this week Hon-
do Chamber of Commerce manager, R. C. Rath, received a wire from Senator Tom Connally announcing that he had been advised by the War Department that Captain Walter B.

Meyer of Hondo had been relieved from active duty under special orders on September 14th and had been ordered to the separation center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

This order is the culmination of many months endeavor on the part of the local Chamber and other agencies to have Captain Meyer return to his home here where there has been an acute situation due to the shortage of doctors.

During his tour of duty in the Medical Corps, Captain Meyer has been stationed at El Paso, Texas;
Fort Smith, Ark., and at present, Chickasha, Okla. The time of his arrival in Hondo, following his discharge, is indefinite.

NOTICE TO VETERANS AND THEIR FAMILIES

NEWS NOTES

From The Flight Engineer School

Issued by the Public Relations Office, AAFES, Hondo, Texas.

HONDO FIELD, OKLAHOMA U. TO BATTLE SATURDAY

Oklahoma University will be invaded by air Saturday, Sept. 22,
when a flashy army eleven from Hondo Field will lock horns with the Sooner State squad in the latter's opening game at the University stadium at 2:30 p. m.

The Hondo Comets, flying from their B-29 Flight Engineer School base on Friday, will spring a Stagg brand of football on Oklahoma's Big Six contender.

Oklahoma had intended to open its schedule later, but Hondo Coach Bob Coe, erstwhile assistant coach and protégé of famous Amos Alonzo Stagg of the College of the Pacific, and Sooner Coach Dewey Lester got together by telephone early this week and signed the battle.

The Comets opened last week against Ellington Field, the two army elevens fighting to a 7-to-7 deadlock. Fumbles cost Hondo at least two touchdowns, but Coach Coe
this week believed he ironed out the wrinkles and "glued" his ball-toters' hands for the rough go they will have against Oklahoma. Except for a couple of low blows as the result of discharges of two key linemen and three second stringers, the Comets should be able to hit Norman ready to maintain their flashy style and modified Stagg system of ball.

Lt. Coe will probably rely a great deal on his sensational new back to augment his air offensive. Bob Cunningham, former Southern Methodist University star, is expected to be the chief artillery man, with Otto Schnellbacher, an All-American honorable mention end from Kansas
University, and Quarterback Sammy Laskin, slated to be on the receiving end of most of the passes.

Schnellbacher, who didn't have much chance to show in the opener,
will probably display a brand of end
Saturday to thrill the Oklahoma spectators. Cunningham last year passed completed against the undefeated Randolph Field squad. Las-kin is a remarkable ball carrier as well as pass receiver.

GRID SEASON OPENS AS HONDO,
ELLINGTON SCRAP TO 7-7 TIE

HAAP's Comets and Ellington Field's Flyers fought to a 7-to-7 stalemate Saturday night, Sept. 15, as the two elevens opened their season in a rough-and-tumble fray at Hondo High School stadium before a crowd estimated at 2,500.

In what turned out to be an aerial battle, Coach Bob Coe's Comets carried the attack in the first half scoring in the initial quarter, and gaining yardage consistently with smashing ground plays. A rejuven-ated Ellington Club came back in the second half to even the count at the start of the fourth when En-
c. Hugh Huber took a 25-yard pass from Halfback Fred King in the midst of a pack of Comets trying to bat the pill down. King's placekick for the extra point was good.

Hondo, opening like a house afire,
set the stage to score after big Bill Huston, speedy 180-pound halfback, had made a spectacular end sweep.
On the next play Huston fired a pass to Quarterback Sam Laskin who was knocked down on the 2-yard line. Fullback George Boner crashed
the line to pay dirt. Center Lloyd Earl kicked the extra point.

While most of the game was played in Ellington territory, and Hondo made several scoring threats, fumbles proved extremely costly.
Ellington's Flyers, whose defense tightened remarkably in the last half, were unable to penetrate Hon-do's forward wall but their air offensive went well. Hondo's Huston-to-Laskin and Huston-to-Schnell-bacher passing combinations showed great prospects, while the King-to-Huber passing setup clicked smoothly for long Ellington gains. Until injured, Huston was Hondo's key ball carrier, while King was the stellar Flyer ball totter, with Fullback Drake a close second. Hondo's Otto Schnellbacher, end, Ivan Cunningham, halfback, Fullback George Boner, Halfback J. G. Walsh, and Ed Sobczak, end, were other Hon-
do standouts. Ellington's Robert S.
Bissell, back, George R. Beldon, center, and George A. Schumacher, end, were other Flyer stellar players. The latter was brilliant as a pass receiver.

A note of tragedy occurred when Ernest L. Bruner, Ellington back, suffered a broken ankle early in the game. John J. Pramick, Ellington center, sustained a broken hand.
Hondo's ace, Bill Huston, suffered a leg injury that will keep him benched a couple of weeks.

Coach Coe's Stagg system of ball
—the wide, spread formation—worked successfully against "Bullet" Gray's squad, but the multiple fumbles, dopsters speculated, cost Hondo two or three touchdowns.

Hondo's football future took a somewhat gloomy aspect early this week when six men, at least three of whom were first stringers, were listed for discharges. Coach Coe was worried about an open date this week after Lubbock Field cancelled

a game until he negotiated a battle with Oklahoma University. Included among the men lost via discharges were Lloyd Earl, husky center; E. Kaczorowski, tackle; Frank-lyn Faske, halfback; Donald H. Mc-Carthy, quarterback; Jack Adams, center; R. R. Brumfield, tackle. Two or three others left later this week.

Statistics on the Saturday night game:

Passes: Ellington, 6 completed out of 15 attempted for 91 yards (15.1 yards average per pass); Hondo, 6 completed out of 17 attempted for 72 yards (12 yards average per pass).

First downs: Ellington, 4; Hondo, 10.

Yards gained by rushing: Elling-ton, 29 yards in 20 plays for 1.5
yards average; Hondo, 188 yards in 43 plays for 4.3 yards average.

Pass interceptions: By Ellington,
0; by Hondo, 3.

Penalties: Against Ellington, 6 for 50 yards; against Hondo, 4 for 30 yards.

Fumbles: Ellington, 4; Hondo, 7.
Punts: Ellington, 6 for 213 yards (average of 35.5 yards); Hondo, 8 for 273 yards (34.1 average).

Returned punts: Ellington, total of 45 yards; Hondo, 47 yards.

Interesting sidelights of the game were the fact that Ellington lost 44 yards by rushing, and failed to score a single first down in the initial half.

GRID MENU ANNOUNCED

Football schedule for Hondo Field
was announced this week by Coach Coe, after negotiations were completed for two important games—
one with Oklahoma University and another with Fort Warren, Wyo., at Omaha, Neb. The schedule follows:

Saturday afternoon, Sept. 22, Hondo Field at University of Oklahoma; Friday night, Oct. 5, Hondo Field at Bergstrom Field; Friday night, Oct. 12, Blackland Field at Hondo Field; Sunday afternoon, Oct.
21, Hondo Field vs. Fort Warren, Wyo., at Omaha, Neb.; Sunday afternoon, Oct. 28, Hondo Field at Ellington Field; Friday night, Nov. 2, amarillo Field at Hondo Field.

Coe is now clobbering for a game
for the Comets' open date.

13 MORE SIGN UP FOR ANOTHER HITCH

Voluntary reenlisting in the Army is showing up well at Hondo Field,
with 13 more reported this week,
according to Capt. A. B. Shattuck, military personnel officer.

The list includes S. Sgt. Henry J.
Mehn, Cpl. Leonard Greene, Pfc.
Walter L. Bunell, Pvt. Ralph L.
Stewart, S. Sgt. Neeley T. Reed, Sgt.
Clydon W. Donahue, Cpl. Kenneth Hasek, M. Sgt. Nick Alexander, M.
Sgt. Theodore E. Hawkinson, S. Sgt.
John E. Wallace, Cpl. Herbert L.
Hodge, Pvt. James H. Shaw and Pvt.
Jesse W. Daniels.

WALKER HEADS CLUB

Sam Walker was elected president of the Hondo AAF Welfare and Recreation Club at a meeting held Monday. Other officers named: Lester
R. Heyen, vice president; Pauline Crow, secretary, and Earl L. O'Neill, treasurer.

EX-C.O. HEADS AAF CFTC SEPARATION PROGRAM

Col. Robert B. Davenport, formerly commandant of Hondo Field, is now in charge of the new Air Force separation center program for the Central Flying Training Command.

HAAF LEADER LEAVES

Capt. Harley Van Sickle, assistant post adjutant at HAAF, who left this week for a separation center and home in Garden City, Minn. has been succeeded by Capt. Lester K.
Gilbert from Lowry Field, Colo.

Capt. Van Sickle, who had served for years, has logged more than 2,450 hours in the air since he became an Army pilot in May, 1942.

HAAF EX-G. I. TO APPEAR IN STAGE SHOW HERE

Hondo Field will welcome back
one of its "class of '42" on Oct. 3, but this time he will not be wearing a uniform.

He is Johnny Glasper, one of the most talented musicians ever to be stationed at HAAF, who now is a member of the cast of "Just for the Ride," a USO-Camp Shows attraction to show at the Post Theater.

The cast includes vaudeville and variety show favorites that have entertained to the applause of audiences all over the country.

As for Glasper, who was a corporal at Hondo, assigned at first to Special Service and later as organist for chapel activities, the little Scot has played his piano for Europe's elite and nobility. He was discharged from the Army last spring.

ANNUAL REPORT AMERICAN RED CROSS

The various chairmen of the Medina County Chapter of the American Red Cross have submitted the following reports of business transacted during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1944, to July 1, 1945:

Home Nursing

Mrs. A. C. Gilliam, chairman.

In June, 1944, we sent Mrs. Rose Dilloway to Waco to a special training school in order that she might be instructed in teaching a class of six lessons in "The Care of the Sick." She conducted two of "The Six-Lesson Classes," and some 18
women received certificates. Mrs.
Dilloway was instructing a third class when she had to leave. One class was organized for the Latin-Americans, but it was not completed due to poor attendance. Miss McNutt taught several pre-natal classes at the USO. Mrs. Brown taught two pre-natal classes also.

Special Service

Mrs. T. C. Barnes, chairman.

During the past year we have made and submitted 720 sewing kits, 720 army kit bags, made and filled; 144 army kit bags, unfilled; 56 pairs of house slippers, cut and made; 62 bolts of gauze cut and made into bandages to be used at HAAF.

Junior Red Cross

Rev. C. Garcia, chairman.

The combined schools of Medina County, including 81 rooms, enrolled, have contributed fees amounting to $51.50, with a surplus of $188.48, which amounts to a total of $239.98
contributed.

Alamo Camp, Hospital Council

Mrs. E. J. Leinweber, chairman.

During the past year our division has placed:

Furniture and furnishings, paint,
etc., in the WAMP day room; two lounges, four easy chairs, two tables
in pilots' room, Gp. 1; furniture,
rugs, vases, ash trays, etc., in Flight 8 pilots' room; furniture, rugs,
smoking stands in the WAC day
room of the Intelligence Library,
(the Alamo Camp and Hospital Council donated $300 to assist in purchasing these articles); rugs and
smoking stands in the WAC day
room ($150 was donated by Kendall County for these purchases);
one radio in WAC day room; tools for work-shop of the Hondo station hospital; building material for Service Club No. 2 and for Red Cross office on Hondo Field; machine, scissors, findings, for sewing room
for Auxiliary on Hondo Field; 54 High Seas packages; approximately 260 prizes for parties at Hondo
Field and 350 prizes sent to Brooks Hospital Center; repaired two clarinets donated by Alamo Camp and Hospital Council for Service Club
No. 2; drapes were hung in three wards at Hondo station hospital, sunroom of one ward, Service Club No.
2, Field Director's office and Flight
8 pilots' room.

Cookies sent to Brooks Hospital Center were: Feb., 100 doz. by ladies of Hondo Methodist Church;
Mar., 101 doz. by Lutheran ladies;
Apr., 107 doz. by Baptist ladies,
and in June, 38 1-2 doz. by Catholic ladies.

Special parties were held at Hondo station hospital. Churches and Clubs have also entertained the patients. The Chapter entertained at the Christmas party; five trees, lights, ornaments, fruit, nuts and candy were furnished. 400 doz.
home-made cookies and 195 individually wrapped Christmas packages were donated by the citizens of Medina County. On March 2, Texas Independence Day, the Chapter furnished prizes, flowers, home-made cookies, punch, plate favors and music. On March 30, the Chapter furnished six dozen Easter eggs, prizes, etc., for the patients. Pot plants were taken to the station hospital and Service Club No. 2; material for the sunroom for another ward has been purchased but has not yet been made.

As committee chairman, I have attended all but three of the monthly meetings held by the Alamo Camp and Hospital Council.

JAPAN: Fourth-Rater

Even as former Premier Hideki Tojo lay quiet and ashen in an American army hospital with an ugly self-inflicted bullet wound below the heart, conqueror Douglas MacArthur told newsmen that the once proud country which the stricken war lord had led into conflict now was a fourth rate nation.

Hoping to keep Tojo alive so as to be able to question him on the affairs he directed during his wartime premiership, American doctors applied all the treatment of modern medical science, including blood transfusions. But as they labored, Tojo, having accepted full responsibility for the war, groaned: "I am going to die anyway so don't go to any trouble over me."

Tojo shot himself as American troops began a round-up of 40 Japanese suspected of war crimes, including all of the members of the former premier's cabinet. Besides the Nipponese politicians, generals and prison camp attendants, several American, Australian and Dutch were also being sought in connection with propaganda broadcasts.

In pronouncing Japan a fourth-rate nation now, MacArthur pointed to the complete defeat of her military forces and the destruction of much of her industry. Though Nippon may assume commercial leadership in the Orient, he said, her confinement to the home islands will prevent her from returning to the ranks of the major powers.

Regarding the Emperor, MacArthur explained that he was both a religious and temperal leader, and that while America would not interfere with Japan's spiritual life, the mikado was subject to U. S. dictates in political affairs. By surrendering, the Emperor furnished evidence of a reversion from the military clique which had encompassed him to a new liberal influence.

BIG FIVE: Discuss Italy

Formulation of a peace treaty for Italy headed up the agenda of the council of foreign ministers of the Big Five meeting in London to lay the groundwork for the reshaping of the map of Europe. In dealing with Italy, disposition of her former African colonies and Mediterranean islands poses the most difficult problems, though settlement of Yugoslavia's claim to Trieste also abounds with complications.

Regarding the Italian colonies, the U. S. reportedly favors the establishment of an international trusteeship over the territories, with administration left in Italian hands. Thus, while being given an opportunity of redeeming itself, Italy also would bear the administrative expenses and utilize her colonists to reconstruct war damage.

At the gateway to the Dardanelles straits leading to the Black sea, Italy's Dodecanese islands in the Mediterranean loom as a strategic key in near eastern geopolitics. Friendly to Britain, which possesses heavy interests in the region, Greece has sought to regain the vital islands at the same time Russia has striven to neutralize the entrance to the Black sea.

Italian held with a large Slavic population, Trieste has long been

CROP INSURANCE:

With cotton leading the list of insured commodities, a total of 164,444 applications covering 199,300 farms was written by the Federal Crop Insurance corporation on 1945 crops, according to the department of agriculture. Over 95,000 applications covering 113,183 farms in the 18 producing states were received for cotton.

Applications for insurance on wheat planted last spring totaled 14,390 covering 23,394 farms and for flax 31,131 covering 38,072 farms.

cherished by Yugoslavia for its strategic and commercial value. Recently a clash of British and Yugoslav interests there resulted in Marshal Tito's withdrawal from the area.

CROPS:

Weather Factor

Should early retarded plantings mature rapidly enough to head off killing fall frosts, the U. S. will be assured of another banner crop this year, the department of agriculture reported. Under favorable conditions, production would equal the record 1942 and 1944 wartime output.

Added to the prospective record wheat crop of 1,152,270,000 bushels and oats harvest of 1,570,356,000 bushels corn production was estimated at 3,069,055,000 bushels if late maturing acreage escaped damaging fall weather. During August, the crop showed about a 225,000,000 bushel increase, bringing the prospective final yield up near the 1944 high.

Favorable August weather also improved the outlook for potatoes, tobacco, soybeans, grain sorghums, tame hay, dry peas and beans. On the other hand, heavy boll weevil infestation lowered estimates for cotton production, while hurricane and wet weather damage influenced smaller predictions for the rice and peanut crops.

RELIGION:

Attacks Instruction

Religious education programs in 46 states may be affected as a result of a suit brought in the circuit court at Urbana, Ill., against such instruction in public school property by Mrs. Vashti McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor and an avowed atheist.

In bringing the suit against the Champaign board of education, Mrs. McCollum charged that her 10-year-old son was embarrassed because he was the only pupil of his class not attending the voluntary 30-minute per week courses sponsored and financed by the Protestant, Jewish and Catholic faiths.

In pressing Mrs. McCollum's suit, which both sides promised to carry to the Supreme court if they lost, Attorney Landon Chapman declared that indirect pressure from fellow students and teachers virtually forced a child into such classes on public school property in violation of the constitution providing for separation of church from state.

MEAT:

Lift Bans

Despite the government's withdrawal of controls over meat slaughtering and distribution, officials refused to forecast an early end to meat rationing, reiterating that such action would be taken once there was assurance of a balance of supply and demand.

Set up last April to steer more cattle from local to federally inspected packers qualified to ship meat to the army and between states, the slaughter program was lifted as military orders dipped and a heavy run of cattle was expected this fall.

Established along with slaughter control, the fair distribution plan was designed to assure the shipments of meat along the same geographical pattern as in the first quarter of 1944 and therefore prevent the decrease in supplies to former markets.

Assails 30-Hour Week

Declaring the first step in the downfall of France was the 30-hour week, Senator Byrd (Dem., Va.) attacked the proposal for a similar government work week. Asserting that all industry would have to follow suit, Byrd said that America cannot afford to become a nation of drones without impairing its economic stability. Adoption of a 30-hour work week by the government would increase costs by two billion dollars a year, Byrd said.

OIL:

Foreign Concession

With an eye upon the development of his country through foreign investment, Emperor Haile Selassie granted the Sinclair Oil corporation of the U. S. sweeping oil concessions in Ethiopia.

Under terms of the agreement signed in New York, Sinclair received exclusive development rights to the country for five years, when 50 per cent of the territory will be released. After a further exploratory period of five years, Sinclair will relinquish another 25 per cent. In northwestern Africa, Ethiopia equals Texas, Oklahoma, Massachusetts and Rhode Island in size.

In return for the broad concessions, Sinclair will pay production royalties to the emperor, build one or more schools and hospitals, clinics and research foundations. In addition, the corporation agreed to pay for the education of Ethiopians in the U. S. for the next 10 years.

NAVY:

Speeds Discharges

To the 327,000 men eligible for discharge under original plans, another 423,000 were added by the navy in a revision of its point system for release. In all, one out of every two men will be released within six months, with over 2,700,000 out within a year.

Following the army's pattern, the navy established credit for overseas service, allowing one-fourth of a point for each month of such duty. Other credits include one-half point for each month of service, and 10 points for dependents, with enlisted men requiring 44 points, male officers 49, doctors 60, WAVES 29 and WAVE officers 35.

In defining overseas service, the navy included duty on any ship in commission and activity outside the U. S. with fleet or shore establishments, armed guard crews, communication groups, convoys, marine forces and hospital units.

British Seek Funds

Asserting that they have emerged from the war heavily in debt and with their export trade and foreign investments seriously crimped, the British opened negotiations with U. S. officials in Washington, D. C., for extensive postwar financial assistance.

As the conversations got underway, with Ambassador Halifax and Economist Keynes advancing the British interests, U. S. officials were expected to turn thumbs down on suggestions for making outright gifts instead of loans. Aid most likely will take the form of long term credits at low interest rates to enable Britain to rebuild its industrial machine and acquire materials to resume large-scale exportation.

With U. S. officials holding the upper hand, the conferences also were expected to ring in Britain's overall imperial trade policies and their effect upon this country, and Britain's participation in international cartels restricting production and distribution of such strategic raw materials as rubber and tin.

QUISLING:

End of Run

With the court rejecting his claims of having fought the extension of communism, of having worked for Norway's interests and of having spared the country from becoming a battleground, big, bluff Vidkun Quisling was found guilty of both military and civil treason and sentenced to death before a firing squad. Denied appeal, he was given the right to ask for a lightening of the punishment.

In finding his defense wanting, the court countered his claim of having fought communism by stating that he had actually volunteered to organize a militant Red group in Norway before turning against it; that rather than advancing Norway's interests, he had injured them by consenting to German occupation, and instead of preventing Norway from becoming a battleground, he had brought the country into the theater of war.

With Quisling's own checkered career finished after 25 years of involvement in national and international politics, including representation of British interests in Russia, his cabinet ministers were next scheduled for trial in October.

RETURN PLANES:

More than 4,500 aircraft have been returned to the United States, or deployed to the Pacific theater by the United States army air forces in Europe since the end of the war with Germany, the war department announced.

Among the aircraft remaining in Europe, according to present plans, will be heavy and light bombers, P-47 Thunderbolts, P-51 Mustangs, C-47 and other transport planes, night fighters, and training and liaison planes.

Miracle Insecticide — DDT Not a Panacea

New Deadly Bug Killer Has Effective Use But It Also Has Its Limitations and Danger When Improperly Used.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a guest column written by Winfield J. Dryden, WNU Staff Correspondent, and was not prepared by Baukhage, whose column generally appears in this space each week.)

DDT, much publicized insecticide, saved thousands of lives of our fighting men and civilians in countries where our operations were extended, but it is not the panacea that we would like to believe.

The irony of the story is that it was discovered nearly seventy years ago by a German chemist named Zeldier, but was almost forgotten until rediscovered during the present war by Dr. Paul Muller and Dr. Paul Lauer. These Swiss scientists asserted recently, upon their arrival in America, that with proper control, flies, mosquitoes and other harmful insects can be eliminated entirely from the United States. But along with these insects would go our pollen-carrying insects, bees and other beneficial friends of mankind, also perhaps our birds and fish. Gone also would be many plants and trees that depend upon insects for pollination. As they point out, it is a job for entomologists, not laymen.

DDT has been made available to the public in limited amounts. There will soon be a sufficient supply to meet every demand. Manufacturers of the products, whether in liquid or powder form, are careful to give complete instructions as to its application, which must be followed.

Scientists Tell of Effective DDT Use

Despite its inherent toxicity, DDT in the desired insecticidal concentrations in air is of such low order that it will not cause injurious effects in humans, Dr. Paul A. Neal, chief of the research section of the division of industrial hygiene of the U. S. Public Health Service, has reported. It was this knowledge that made it advisable to spray from the air the Jones Beach area on Long Island, N. Y., and part of the city of Rockford, Illinois. In both cases the purpose was to control insects, Jones Beach to kill sand flies and Rockford to kill pollen-carrying flies, believed to have been the direct cause for the serious infantile paralysis outbreak in many sections.

Lt. Col. A. L. Ahnfeldt, U. S. Surgeon General's office, after a study of results secured in the army, reports: "In peace time DDT may well change the destiny of the earth's population. . . . Our postwar world will no longer be scourged by typhus and malaria and other insect-borne diseases. DDT is not a cure-all, but in the perpetual war between humans and disease, DDT is one of the most effective weapons yet discovered by man."

"DDT will be to preventive medicine what Lister's discovery of antiseptic was to surgery and should close the door forever on those diseases which are companions of death-dealing insects."

In the field of agriculture, the results have been far from disappointing. Remarkable results have been obtained by some of its application, while in others the results were either negative, incomplete or its use not recommended due to effect on birds and other insects.

Will Prove Boon to Hard-Worked Farmer

While agricultural use of DDT must still be considered in its experimental state, reliable and complete tests at various state experimental stations have proved that it is the best insecticide now on the market for the control of the apple's most destructive pest, the codling moth.

It will kill Japanese beetle adults, while current remedies are based entirely upon their repelling value.

The grape leafhopper and other leafhoppers are highly susceptible to DDT and excellent results have been obtained with it against Oriental fruit moth. It also has proved effective against apple red bug, pear thrips, grape berry moth, fruit tree leafroller, apple maggot, cherry maggot and many others.

In California, it was proved that DDT was effective against codling moths in walnut and other orchards. At Missouri it was found that a three per cent dust was effective in controlling blister beetle, squash bug, white fly, thrips, sowbugs, corn earworm, Colorado potato beetle, spotted and striped cucumber beetles, northern corn rootworm, pavement ant, lace-bugs, leafhoppers on grape, flea beetles on eggplant, and a ten per cent dust for roaches, fleas and squash bugs.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported that "DDT insecticides were found experimentally to be definitely more effective than those currently used for control of some 30 pests that attack field crops, man, livestock and trees. These included codling moth, cabbage looper, catalpa sphinx, cotton boll-worm, cotton flea-hopper, eastern tent caterpillar, elm bark beetle, green-striped maple worm, gypsy moth, horn flies on cattle, Japanese beetle, Lygus and four other kinds of sucking bugs, mimosa webworm, pine sawflies, pink bollworm, spruce budworm, velvetbean caterpillar, vetch bruchid, white-fringed beetles, mosquitoes, bedbugs, three kinds of lice on man, and houseflies and fleas in buildings.

A Good Insecticide For Postwar Home

Brig. Gen. Simmons, army medical corps, has said: "DDT will exceed even penicillin in its ultimate usefulness and will prove to be the outstanding medical advance made during the war."

One of the newest products is a paint containing DDT to be used on walls of kitchens, dining rooms and in institutions. Other industrial uses have been found by dusting with a 10 per cent DDT powder around the sink in kitchen and other places where cockroaches and other insects stay.

DDT will eliminate the bedbug problem in hospitals, as well as in private dwellings. It may be applied as a five per cent spray or as a 10 per cent powder to both sides of the mattress and springs. It also provides freedom from flies and mosquitoes in hospitals. The new aerosol bomb, which releases the DDT as an aerosol—a cross between a fumigating gas and an ordinary fly spray, is excellent for this purpose. A power spray may be used in applying a five per cent DDT solution.

Just as it is proving effective on the agricultural and industrial front, and as it saved lives on the war fronts, DDT has started to contribute to the health of the home front. The story of spraying for mosquitoes against malaria is well known.

Painting door and window screens with a five per cent solution of DDT in water or kerosene leaves an insecticidal residue that will kill every fly, mosquito or other insect lighting there within the next several months, the U. S. department of agriculture reports.

A five per cent solution of DDT in kerosene sprayed on floors or over rugs eliminates the flea nuisance. A hand sprayer is adequate. By spraying deep into cracks, the DDT will remain toxic to these insects for several weeks.

A ten per cent powder applied to cracks with a small hand duster can be depended on to kill any brown dog ticks that may be hiding there.

Baseboards, especially those that have worked loose from the wall, afford excellent breeding places for bedbugs, cockroaches and brown dog ticks. DDT is sure death to these pests. A hand sprayer, held close to the opening, will send the insecticide, a five per cent solution in kerosene, down where the insects are concealed, or a large duster, of 10 per cent powder, may be used.

Average Citizen Has Answer to National Welfare

There is considerable difference of opinion with regard to the attitude civilians will take during the next few months. Their attitudes will largely determine whether we have a recession of several months' duration and the extent of the recovery from such a recession. One group thinks that in spite of lower incomes based on a shorter work week, civilians will have more leisure and spend more.

This group would expect a brisk trade based on free spending. Important segments of the federal government would seem to favor policies that would lead to free spending accompanied by what might be termed controlled inflation. The other group expects people to be cautious and unwilling to spend their accumulated savings.

The committee for economic development has issued a report which gives business men's estimates of postwar markets for manufactured goods. These estimates are optimistic. The committee points out that the postwar years can roughly be divided into three periods: first, short period of reconversion, which may last through 1946; second, from 1946 or early 1947 for a year of deferred orders, and the last period of self-sustaining.

Although Secretary Anderson indicated that meat rationing was on the way out, possibly matter of months, storage stocks are relatively low, and it is expected that the strong demands for meats will be maintained long enough to absorb the rather heavy movement of cattle and hogs that is anticipated during the fall and early winter months. Range conditions have been excellent, and cattle men report that the ranchers are in a mood to carry larger than normal supplies of range cattle over winter rather than to sell them at substantial discounts from present prices.

People Make Fun of Mrs. Beulah Hankins

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA. — Mrs. Beulah Hankins, who lives at 634 S. Collier, wrote an amusing letter to Faultless Starch Company recently. She said,

"I want to tell you about your wonderful starch. I sure think it's grand. Several people make fun of me for not boiling my starch. They say this starch is for lazy people. I have a boy four years old and I iron ten to fifteen suits of clothes a week for him. I love to iron them as Faultless Starch makes easy ironing. I also have twins, eight months old, and do they have a laundry — from twenty to twenty-five dresses a week and most of these are white ones. They iron so smooth and smell good. Thanks again for Faultless Starch. It sure saves me many hours of ironing."

SAVES TIME AND WORK

That's probably the most wonderful letter anyone could write about Faultless Starch! Mrs. Hankins is a busy wife and mother and she has found that Faultless Starch saves time and work for her. She makes starch without cooking and she has found that Faultless Starch makes her ironing easy. She gets a kick out of people saying that her Faultless Starch is for lazy people. Certainly she isn't lazy!

MADE A SPECIAL WAY

If you are busy, too—especially on washday and ironing day—you deserve the time-saving and work-saving help Faultless Starch can give you. You see Faultless Starch is made a special way to help you through your washing and to save you hours of ironing. So why not enjoy Faultless Starch? All you have to do is ask your grocer for it. Then you can make perfect hot starch without cooking! And you can make ironing so smooth, easy and beautiful. It's yours for the asking . . . Faultless Starch!—Adv.

Red Raskall

By CLARK McMEekin

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY THUS FAR: While voyaging from England to America Lark Shannon's ship goes down. She is cast upon an island, and Galt Withe, a bound servant, rescues her. Lark is made prisoner at the inn by Cony and Mag, who are holding her for ransom. She escapes and is found by David North, her sweetheart, disguised as a gypsy to get a line on the activities of one Dr. Matson. Galt arrives on the scene and agrees to get Lark to Norfolk, but on entering the boat find Cony concealed in the two men fight, while the boat drifts back to the inn. Dr. Matson spares Galt's life at Lark's pleading, and later, while in a gypsy camp, Dr. Matson endeavors to identify David.

CHAPTER XIV

His face fell. "Your thoughts be ever on him, Lark," he said glumly, "and his but on his business. No, I don't think we can overtake him. Not tonight. 'Twill be all we can do to save our own skins."

"He's right," Ginko said. "Forget about David and get a quick start before the alarm goes out. Take the downhill path and work toward the beach. Matson, like as not, will think you've taken the highway to Norfolk and search that first."

For hours they raced their horses along the shore where the beach was fringed by the creeping tide. Red Raskall was by far the swifter of the two horses, and Galt had to shorten his stride so that the smaller black Dosta might keep by his side.

As the sun reddened the eastern sky, they reached Cockle Creek and the Black Narrows. Galt said he had fished all up and down this coast and knew every little bay and inlet. Here was a good place, he told Lark, to water their horses and rest till noon.

Gratefully they curled up in the sand and were soon fast asleep.

Lark awakened first and, rising on her elbow, lay watching Galt. How long he looked, lying there, how relaxed . . . how beautiful. What latent strength he possessed, what manliness, she thought.

In a moment he opened his eyes and smiled at her. "I'm hungry," he said, "simply starving. Looks like we'll have to find us some oysters, Lark, do you mind?"

"Anything would taste good." She sat up and shook the sand out of her hair. "Oh, Galt, it's so good to be alive, to be free. Do you think those men will come back? Do you think Matson will send out others?"

"I doubt they'll find us," Galt said sturdily. "We can make a race for it, if they do. Our horses are swifter than any of his, and now that we've found our freedom, both you and I, by God, we're going to keep it."

Lark thought, he said that not like swearing, but almost like a prayer.

"I'm beautifully hungry now," Lark said. "Where's your cobby-knife, Galt? You must teach me to open oysters so the next time I am shipwrecked. . . ."

In an instant his mood veered with hers and they were laughing together, wading down to the water's edge, here in this hidden cove, and scooping up handfuls of oysters, tearing them loose from the sandy beds, opening them and lapping up the rich food.

"Look!" Lark pointed to a near-by scrub which was laden with red berries. "Do you think they're poison?"

"No, they're not poison. They're ground-apples. Plenty of 'em on Assateague. I've tasted them often." He pulled cluster after cluster and loaded her lap with the wild fruit. "They're good," she said, smiling at him companionably.

"Taste!" She put one in his mouth. She followed him to where they had hobbled the horses near a small stream of water which meandered down to the shore. The horses were hidden here and could crop the tender shoots of marsh grass which speared up through the sandy soil.

Darkness found them skirting westward behind Gargathy Inlet. Once during the afternoon, they had seen a lone horseman and crept into the tangle of undergrowth till he was safely past them.

"There's a cottage yonder," Lark said. "Maybe we can get into it. It would be fine to make a fire in a fireplace and curl up on a dry floor in front of it."

Galt nodded and they circled the darkened cottage.

A shout from within stopped them. "Who's there?" A sleepy voice called roughly, and a man came out and stood under the gabled roof which protected the colonnade, peering into the night.

Lark and Galt crouched low in the tangled undergrowth, thankful that they had left the horses tied some little way off in the woods. The farmer stood for a moment listening intently as they clung close together, scarcely daring to breathe.

"I heard un," he shouted, "I heard un plain, poachin' and thievin', tryin' to find the ole treasure that ain't here. I'll get un, swear to God, I will. I'll blast un sure!" He turned back into the house.

"We'd better make a run for it," Galt whispered. "If he gets his gun, he'll tramp about till daylight and find us sure."

They got to their feet carefully, pulling their woolen clothes from the thorn bushes, shaking the dried leaves from their hair. They crept out through the broken-down iron gate and ran across the patch of open ground that lay between them and the copse where the horses were tethered.

They could hear the farmer, searching around the house, seeking for a trace of them. They paused with their hands on the horses' bridles as the blast of an old-fashioned blunderbuss shattered the silence of the night. The horses shied nervously. They whispered to them soothingly and patted their flanks.

Galt said, "We'd best be off, Lark. The stars are clouding over and it looks as if we might have a smart shower of rain. I'll feel better if we put this place behind us soon." He deposited the knife and the coins safely in the pouch at his waist.

The rain caught them before they had gone many miles and forced them to seek shelter in a barn on the far side of Longboat Creek. They were drenched and shivering, but crept deep into the hay and found what warmth they could.

Lark awoke next morning with chattering teeth and a hot flushed face. Her legs were cramped and her shoulders ached unbearably. It took all the strength she could muster to suck one of the handful of eggs which Galt found in the hay and to allow him to help her mount autumnal morning.

Carried her tenderly inside the little shelter.

The long day's riding was complete misery and, except for Galt's kindly consideration, would have been unendurable. The two horses, with the feeling of the road in them now, set their pace at a steady even gait.

That night they were lucky enough to come on a hunter's lean-to in the woods. Galt lifted Lark from the saddle and carried her tenderly inside the little shelter, piling what dry boughs and leaves he could find, for a couch. He laid a snare in the undergrowth and was fortunate enough to catch a wild rabbit. He slivered and whittled a branch into fine shavings with his cobby-knife, and, when he had started a fire with his flint and tinder, nursed it along with infinite care until it would take hold of a sizeable dry log he had been able to find in a corner of the lean-to.

For a time the hot strengthening meat seemed to put fresh life into Lark, but toward midnight her fever rose and the chills gripped her once more. Galt sat helplessly by, chafing her cold hands and calling her name over and over again as she tossed and raved about the shipwreck, and about that first dreadful night on Ghost Island, when she had found Clink Swalters and had been unable to save him.

Next morning there could be no thought of their continuing their journey. Lark was dreadfully ill, that was plain to be seen, and Galt was in a frenzy of anxiety. His nursing was awkward, but tenderly loving. It comforted him considerably that in her raving she made no mention of David North's name.

When night came he knew he would have to have help if he were to save Lark's life. She seemed asleep for the time being, or else she was sunk in a dreadful, deep unconsciousness. He wasn't sure, but he had to leave her for awhile. He knew that.

He had scarcely thought what story he would tell when the man of the house confronted him with the suspicious surliness accorded strangers in this section of the country.

"My wife is sick," Galt heard his own hurried voice mumbling those words, and knew in that instant that he wished they were the truth. "We're headed north from Norfolk toward Snow Hill Landing where her folks live. Can I buy a blanket and some food for you?"

"Un don't look ole enough to have a wife," the man said considerably. "Bring her here, now do." A kindly-faced small woman pushed up behind him and peered out at Galt.

"Now do! Listen to the woman!" The man grumbled. "How in land sakes do we know this boy ain't a thief? How do we know he ain't that very chap Sheriff told us to be on the lookout for, who stole a horse up Horntown-way? Fellow in town t'other day tole me to be on the watch. Come inside now, 'an let us get a good look at un." He held the door wide open.

Galt felt the red blood mounting into his unshaven cheeks. He took a step back out of the light.

"Do I speak like a bound boy?" he said haughtily. "My wife and I are gentlefolk, both of us. If you have food and a blanket to sell. . . ."

"What price un give me?" the man asked, his face lighting up with greed, his suspicions now evidently allayed.

"I'll pay you fair," Galt said, in an agony of impatience, as he stuck his hand in his pouch and jingled the coins.

The woman said, "I've got an extra homespun blanket and plenty meal an' larded fowl, Tom. We could use a bit of cash money with the taxes coming due. . . . I could add a bottle of my root tonic. It's mighty good for sick folks." She smiled at Galt.

When Tom didn't answer her, but just stood there considering, she fetched the things and tied them in a bundle which she held out with some eagerness to Galt.

When the man, more slow-witted than his wife, still didn't say anything, Galt held out one of his coins. The woman smiled contentedly and passed him the bundle as Tom, suddenly coming to life, snatched the coin and slammed the door in Galt's face.

Her chills and fever ran their course for ten full days, and she was weaker than a new-born kitten by that time. Anxiously, Galt guarded her for another three or four days until he felt her now returning strength would make it possible for them to continue their journey.

At last, on the fifteenth day, she said, "Galt, I can make it now. Really, I think I can. Let me try." She stood up and took a few wobbly steps. His arm was around her, supporting her and giving her courage. He swung her up and into Dosta's saddle, steadying her for a moment as she swayed weakly and clung to him.

He patted her knee and spoke as if he were talking to a small child. "You're all right, Lark. You can make it, darling. It won't be very long now. Tonight will see us at the ferry. Tomorrow we'll be in Norfolk. David will be there, waiting for you."

"David!" Lark repeated the name slowly, stupidly. "David will be there waiting for me."

"David isn't here? He hasn't been here?" Lark asked anxiously. "Oh, I'm so dreadfully worried." She sat on the very edge of Mara Hastings' horsehair sofa in the prim parlor of the house set a little way back from the tree-lined street in Norfolk.

"David . . . Captain North is not here." Mara pursed her lips and tranquilly continued to net a small silk purse. "I thought I made myself quite clear on that point a few moments ago. I did not say he had not been here. You did not ask me that."

"I would have thought, Miss," Galt said, with obvious irritation, "that you would have volunteered the information when Lark first asked you."

"Captain North was here last week," Mara said. "He has gone back up the coast now."

"Looking for us, of course," Lark smiled at Galt. "Poor, dear David, I'm sure he was frantic with worry. I was ill, you see, Miss Hastings, and that delayed our arrival. . . ."

Mara smiled patiently, as if she were humoring an excitable child. "You needn't worry," she said with a slight edge to her tone. "Captain North did not go back to look for you, Miss Shannon. He went to Baltimore to attend to important business for the Cargoe Riske Company."

"Important business . . . Oh, I see," Lark said flatly. She glanced down dejectedly at her hands which she was twisting in her lap. She felt suddenly very tired and very weak.

"You will both want baths," she said, with her hand on the painted china door-knob. "I will have warm water sent to your rooms and will find some more suitable garments for you, Miss Shannon."

Lark glanced down in quick confusion at her tattered gypsy finery. "Oh," she said, "I'm so dreadfully sorry. We've disgraced you by coming here like this, haven't we? We didn't stop for a minute to think. We were so tired. . . . I've been so sick."

"I hope that no one saw you enter," Mara led the way up the narrow carpeted stairs. "I believe all the children were engaged in their classes and there are not many of my friends on the streets at this early morning hour. One does have to be careful of appearances when their school has as select a reputation as mine. You understand that, of course, Miss Shannon?"

Galt stopped stock-still a few feet below them on the landing. "Lark," he said, "since David isn't here, I'd say we tell Mistress Hastings goodbye and take our foot in hand."

(Note—In Drew Pearson's absence, Herbert Bayard Swope, long a student of British political affairs, contributes a guest column on the new labor government.)

By HERBERT BAYARD SWOPE
Former Editor of the New York World and Public Relations Adviser to the Secretary of War.

NEW YORK.—The conservative defeat in England is not so striking a blow as some portray it. Unquestionably, there will be a trend toward socialization, but I think that this will be confined, at least for the next few years, to the natural monopolies—power, light, heat, transportation, communication (already in the state's hands except for cables) and, of course, mining, steel, and the Bank of England. But much of this has been on their program for the last 25 years.

In fact, even the Lloyd George government gave support to the basic plan.

There will be a trend on the part of the radical movement in this country to affiliate itself with the British program. And I think there will be efforts to gain a wider and deeper association politically with Britain and Russia. But I do not discern any trend toward communism.

Whatever Britain does will be done not by dictatorship, but under the rule of a true democracy. That characteristic saves it from becoming a repetition of Stalinism. After all, only two communists were elected out of 27 who ran. That's not dangerous, even though the propagandists can—and do—claim 100 per cent increase! (The Commies had one member in the last House.)

No New Foreign Policy.

I should doubt that there will be any decisive changes in foreign policy. Britain has consistently adhered to a pretty well formulated foreign policy for almost 300 years. However, it is reasonable to expect a greater sympathy on the part of the British foreign office for the movement left of center than with the kings and Tories the expiring government supported. An approach to self-government in India is to be expected.

I think foreign trade will become more international minded and more collective. I think it will move toward further cartelization. The question about British commerce growing will be dependent upon their range of wage. Labor will drive for wider employment and higher pay. Probably it will take over many features of Beveridge's plan. To hold the British position in world markets will require subsidies. In other words, Britain will embark upon a species of protection.

Long Labor Rule

Attlee is a good man, overshadowed by his association with Churchill. My guess is that labor is in for a long run and, if there is any change it will be to displace Attlee for one of its own, such as Bevin or Morrison. As its name implies, this is a labor victory, built in a democratic framework.

Unquestionably, the fact that labor received a clear majority of all the votes, will tend to unify the country. I believe there is nothing to fear from England. In fact, we may be able to learn from this great experiment. My hope is that there will not be too great a limitation set upon free enterprise.

We should remember that Ramsay MacDonald's labor government swung steadily to the right. In fact, it is axiomatic that the ins group conservative and the outs more radical.

That is happening in America right now. It wouldn't be surprising if the Republicans were gradually to move to the left, as against the conservatism of the southern democracy.

Universal War-Weariness

In my reading, it is almost a settled law of history that every country engaged in a war repudiates the leadership that brought its people into the war. We saw that exemplified after World War I. All the victors were repudiated—Wilson in America, Lloyd George in Britain, Orlando in Italy, Clemenceau in France. And the losers, too: the Hohenzollerns, the Hapsburgs and the Romanoffs.

Apparently a great wave of war-weariness overwhelms all peoples, and they throw out anyone remotely connected with the war. If that be true, it disposes of any question of military candidates. But there is small likelihood of that; America has chosen a great military figure really only once. That was Grant—and his presidency was a stench.

Attlee's cabinet is a strong one and certainly as good as Churchill had. There is an additional point, in connection with the English result, on which I should like to expatiate for just a moment:

We Won't Copy England

There is an insistent belief that the English elections are definitely an indication of how ours is going. While unquestionably, the result shows a tendency, in reality there is nothing to warrant the belief that it is any more than such a tendency.

In 1908 to 1911, Lloyd George was beginning his successful campaign for vast social reforms in Britain. We remained conservative, electing Taft in 1908, and would have elected a Republican in 1912 had it not been for the Bull Moose split.

England went liberal during the war, and thereafter, but we turned solidly to the right immediately after the war, while England, in the early '20s elected a labor government. In 1923, when MacDonald got a plurality, we put our leadership in the hands of Calvin Coolidge.

SEWING CIRCLE PATTERNS

Patchwork Apron Is Colorful

8903
14-44

SOFT scallops outline the neck-line of this graceful afternoon frock. The simple gored skirt is very flattering and easy to wear. Use a pretty all-over scroll or floral print and add your favorite jewelry or a bright flower for ornament.

Pattern No. 8903 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16, short sleeves, requires 3 1/4 yards of 39-inch fabric.

Keep a clothes hanger right in the sewing room when making a new dress. Then the half-finished dress may be placed on it when not working on it. There is no sense in bundling it up in a knot to cause wrinkles when this small step will prevent them.

A cloth dipped in kerosene will remove all grease and dirt stains from the sink as well as add to the polish. To remove grease spots from wallpaper, apply dry cornmeal with a clean, dry cloth to the spots and they will soon disappear.

Baste a line down center front of the dress you are making and another down center back. Use these lines as guides in fitting.

To make dainty sandwiches, use bread that is at least 24 hours old and slice thin with a sharp knife.

When clothing is spotted with rain, place a clean, damp cloth on the material and press it with a moderately warm iron.

Cool jars of hot canned fruits out of a draft to prevent their cracking.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove, sprinkle with salt to remove the unpleasant odor.

Due to an unusually large demand and current conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers.

about
RUBBER

Rubber production from native plants in Southern Florida is not promising at present, and commercial planting of tropical rubber plants there is not justified, in the opinion of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A special railroad coach equipped to demonstrate tyre (British spelling) conservation has traveled throughout England.

More than 40,000,000 heavy-duty truck tires have been produced since Pearl Harbor, even though 90% of the sources of supply of natural rubber were lost at that time.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Andy Botkin has a hobby

Andy Botkin, tavern keeper at the Garden Cafe, has a hobby. It's writing to all the service men who used to make his place a sort of club.

And do they appreciate it! One of them sent him a German combat helmet; another, a Jap flag. He's got pictures and coins and souvenirs of all kinds on the wall—mementos with "To Andy" written on them.

And he showed me the letters that he's got back... from homesick privates to reminiscent colonels. Letters about home and

Main Street and the Garden Cafe... from men who remember listening to football scores on Andy's radio, sharing a mild glass of beer with friends...

From where I sit, Andy's doing a one-man job of boosting morale. Andy's spotless tavern, with its decent, homelike surroundings, is doing a job on the home front, too... in promoting moderation and wholesome relaxation.

MRS. REINHARDT SCHNEIDER

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Thursday evening, Sept. 13, 1945, at the Harger Funeral Home for the late Mrs. Elvree B. Schneider, who died at her home here on Tuesday, Sept. 11, 1945. The services were conducted by Rev. C. R. Brewster, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hondo, and burial was made in Oakwood cemetery.
We are indebted to Rev. Brewster for the following tribute to her memory.

Obituary

Elvree Bascom Powell was born Aug. 14, 1862, at Davy, Dewitt County, Texas.

At this same place she was united in marriage to Reinhardt Schneider, Aug. 20, 1884. To this union were born two sons and three daughters: Laura Agnes Wilburn of Hondo, Texas; James Ernest Schneider of Hondo; Nellie Reinhardt of San Antonio; Mary Isabel Garber of Hondo; and Henry Leo Schneider of Wilmington, Calif. There are nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

She is the last of 11 children to pass from this mortal to the immortal and she was preceded by her husband by 41 years.

She was converted in youth and united with the Methodist Church in Dewitt County. She moved to Hondo in 1906 and has made this home ever since.

Departed this life Sept. 11, 1945, age 83 years, on V-J Day. She has gone to claim the reward of eternal life—earned through many years of suffering and tribulation.

Star Dust

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

By MARY DICKSON

General Eisenhower is authority for the statement that "The Story of GI Joe," the much-acclaimed Ernie Pyle film, is the "most impressive war film ever made."

Former movie stars now in the service may have been left behind. Hollywood never did produce enough features to star all of them. New stars have been developed. Some of the older ones have been almost forgotten. There is no doubt that many of these movie people, heroes of this war, will have to take a back seat when they return. Some will produce, some will retire and some will enter business.

The new stars include Van Johnson, Eddie Bracken, Cornel Wilde, Robert Walker and dozens more.

Tough-guy Edward G. Robinson will play the part of a warm-hearted farmer in M-G-M's "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes." Robinson plays the part of the typical farmer as if he was born to the part, even better than some of the tough-guy movie roles he has had.

Xavier Cugat will appear with his orchestra in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Holiday in Mexico."

"Back to Bataan," R-K-O drama of warfare in the Philippines, has met with the approval of heroes of Bataan. The cast includes John Wayne, Anthony Quinn, Beulah Bondi, Fely Franquell and Leonard Strong. Edward Dmytryk outdid himself as director.

After a six-year absence, Leonore Ulrich is returning to the screen to portray a character role in the Lucille Ball-John Hodiak picture, "Time for Two."

Carole Landis has been named by Twentieth Century-Fox to be starred in the musical, "Girl in the Moon." The film, in Technicolor, will be produced by George Jessel, with a Hollywood background and deal with search for new movie talent.

One-picture-a-year program has been adopted by Olivia De Havilland, at least for the next three years. She has just signed a contract with Paramount calling for one feature role a year for three years.

Paramount will produce Elmer Rice's new play, "Dream Girl," in New York City, with Betty Field in the starring role. Stephen Laird, magazine correspondent, will try his luck as a Columbia producer.

If London has its way, it will become the Hollywood of Europe, or, if the truth were known, they plan to become the Hollywood of the world. Tempting offers have been made from the English capital to have Ronald Colman go there to play opposite Anna Neagle in "Piccadilly, 1945."

Dick Powell is running true to type. That means that he has variety in the type of films in which he appears. In his latest he will be a bank clerk by day and a killer by night.

Bob Cummings' first will be Chaplain John Grant's "Answer Us From Heaven," the story of an army chaplain who returns from the front minus both legs.

Major Allen "Dry" Martin, whose plane was credited with 83 enemy planes, has turned down acting offers and returned to R-K-O. as assistant in production management department.

John Carroll was picked for the singing lead in "The Kissing Bandit." Carroll's voice has developed and shown considerable improvement and he is slated for big things in singing roles.

Records are being smashed by Van Johnson and Esther Williams on the screen. Their pictures are always in demand and held over in most cities.

MISCELLANY—Will Bing Crosby return to the air? That is the $64 question. He is still up in the air about the answer. "Song to Remember," in Technicolor, still packing them in. Chopin's music the feature, shared with Paul Muni. Billy Rose believes he can repeat success of his "Diamond Horseshoe" in London, with entertainers of yesterday, after which he will eye the screen for a similar feature. Angeline Orr, radio actress, has been signed by Columbia Pictures. Elizabeth Drown won her divorce and $28,000 annually.

Boys Will Welcome This Cake Overseas!

(See Recipes Below)

Send It Overseas!

It won't be long now before you can start those Christmas presents on their way to the soldiers overseas. Of course, you can send baked goods at any time to the boys in camp here in this country; and sailors and marines stationed overseas can also receive packages at any time.

For your local service centers, you can bake luscious, frosted cakes, but you will have to reserve cakes that will pack well and travel easily for "over there." It has been found that cakes with fruits and nuts stay fresh longer than plainer ones.

Use frosting that doesn't rub off easily or crack if you are sending the cake to some camp in this country. For overseas, it's best to send unfrosted cakes.

The use of cake flour will give a cake fine grain, and such a cake will not crumble easily during shipment. And do pack both cakes and cookies as tightly and securely as you can to assure their arriving in the best possible condition.

Here are some of the nominations for cakes and cookies that pack well and travel easily. The first is an easily mixed fudge type cake:

Fudge Nut Cake.
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup vegetable shortening
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted over boiling water
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts

Sift flour once, measure into a sifter with soda and salt. Have shortening at room temperature, mix or stir to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add brown sugar, forcing through a sieve to remove lumps, if necessary. Add ¾ cup milk, vanilla and eggs. Mix until all the flour is dampened, then beat 1 minute. Add remaining milk and blend. Add melted chocolate and beat 2 minutes longer. Fold in nuts. (Count only actual beating time or strokes.) Allow at least 100 strokes to the minute. Scrape bowl and spoon often. Turn into a greased (13x9x2 inch) pan which has been greased lined on the bottom with waxed paper and greased again. Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven for 35 minutes or until done.

Another good, substantial cake with the flavor of orange, honey and nuts is also a good choice for overseas shipping:

Lynn Says

Try These Tips: Transform yesterday's roast into a scalloped casserole, a quick stew, Shepherd's pie or hash.
Bits of cheese and eggs and vegetables can be ground up, mixed with mayonnaise or salad dressing to make delicious sandwich fillings.
Leftover vegetables are also welcome in soups. Or, add them to meat loaves or mold in gelatin salads.
Leftover sandwiches can be toasted to add new, delightful flavor to them. Call them toast-wiches.
Several kinds of leftover canned or fresh fruit can be a topping for upside-down cake.
Dried out cake and cookies can be used for bread pudding.
Leftover rice makes delectable waffles or griddle cakes.

Sour Milk Biscuits Spread
*Orange Honey Nut Cake Beverage
*Recipe given.

*Orange Honey Nut Cake.
2 cups sifted cake flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or shortening
½ cup sugar
¾ cup honey
2 egg yolks
½ cup orange juice
2 cup whites, stiffly beaten
¾ cup nuts, if desired

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add honey slowly and blend. Add egg yolks and beat thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with orange juice, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer cake pans in a moderate (350-degree) oven 30 to 35 minutes.

There are any number of cookies which will keep easily and travel well even if they travel far. Here are suggestions for those camp and overseas boxes:

Honey Chocolate Chip Cookies.
½ cup butter or substitute
½ cup honey
1 small egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup teaspoon vanilla
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
¼ cup nutmeats, chopped

Cream butter and honey until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt twice. Add flour mixture to butter mixture; then add vanilla and blend all well. Fold in chocolate chips and nuts. Chill and drop by spoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a fairly hot (375-degree) oven for 12 minutes.

Honey Pecan Cookies.
½ cup butter or substitute
1 cup honey
1 egg
¼ cup sour milk
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup pecans
¾ cup each of raisins, candied cherries and dates

Cream butter and honey. Add the egg, sour milk, flour which has been sifted with soda and salt. Add the fruits and nuts. Drop on greased tins and bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes.

Spicy and sweet are these fruit spice bar cookies. They are easy to pack and they mellow with age:

Fruit Spice Bars.
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup molasses
2 eggs, beaten
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup raisins
¼ cup nuts

Sift together flour, soda, salt and ginger. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add molasses and blend well. Add eggs and vanilla extract. Mix well. Add flour mixture gradually to creamed mixture, blending well. Fold in raisins and nuts. Spread batter into a greased pan 7x11 inches. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven. Cut in bars.

PRIVATE PURKEY ON OCCUPYING JAPAN

Dear Ed.—

Well I am all in a lather on account of I got to be in the occupation force in Japan and I wish you would write my congressman, also the Secretary of War, the President and anybody else who might get me out of it: It is pretty tough to come through the European shindig after making the fight for a better world, democracy and the assorted freedoms and then wind up as a probation officer over them Japanese.

Occupying Japan is not up my alley. It will be like occupying a haunted house full of Charlie Chans. It is bad enough to occupy countries which look, talk and act like me without taking on a country where I got to keep looking in the book to find out about the customs, habits and sound effects. And anyhow there is something about people who go around all day in kimono that gets on my nerves.

I was not at home exactly among the Krauts and Eyeties but they was members of the same league more or less and they understood pinocchio, horse-shoe pitching, gin rummy, checkers, craps and red dog. They didn't sit on the floor to eat or wear no socks with a special section for the big toe.

But the Japs is something else. I got nothing no more in common with them than the New York Giants has got with a outfit of circus Eskimos. It is the same as putting a lifelong resident of Brooklyn in charge of a Chinese rice plantation.

All I know about Japan is what I see in the movie travelogues, plus what I read in the war news beginning with Pearl Harbor and if they is nice people to be stuck with for a couple of the best years of my life then an American boy's place is in Thibet.

For one thing I do not care for fish-heads, rice and waterlily salads and they tell me a good beer saloon is harder to find in Japan than a hamburger with onions. Also the fraternalization situation is very poor. Italian, Kraut and French dolls is not too hard to go for in dull moments, but I never in my life found myself wishing I knew some Japanese dame to call up.

It would not seem natural for me to have snapshots took of me in a affectionate post with a Nip doll, even if it don't look so bad in some of them comic operas.

Also, I don't like the emperor set-up. If he keeps on insisting he is God it is going to make me pretty sick and I am apt to drop some remarks which will bring on another war. I do not like Japs anyhow. They all look alike and when you have seen them two guys what was house guests in Washington all the time of the Pearl Harbor stab in the back you have seen them all.

My idea is that the Chinese should occupy Japan and let the others go home where they come from. They would get a bigger kick out of it and after what they have took from the Japs for the last ten years they should be in just the right occupation mood. Me, I would not be a Class A occupier. If I got to occupy some place send me back to Germany which with all its faults wears pants, coat and vest, uses shoelaces and knows what a undershirt is for.

Yours, Oscar.

PEACE MY EYE!

One of the major problems of peace remains unsolved; how to disarm the kiddies.

The little ones have so far ignored the peace proclamations and all unconditional surrenders. They are clinging to their arms and munitions.

We took it up with Junior today. He has scoffed at all the radio reports of Japanese surrender and all the statements on war's end. The rest of the world might be standing on the brink of a peaceful world, but not Junior.

We tried to reason with him.

"Listen, the war is over," we said, "Don't you understand?"

"Bam! Bam!" he shouted, leveling a machine gun on us.

"This all belongs to yesterday," we argued. "The world has ceased firing."

"Ack! Ack! Ack!" he replied, switching to an anti-aircraft weapon.

"Peace has come," we insisted. "Now you must lay down your arms and recon-vert to ping-pong or marbles or something."

That settled it. Junior now trained a bazooka on us, and reinforced by all the kids in the neighborhood, wiped us off the map.

The FBI has arrested 118 railroad dining car workers for not seeing that the customers got what they paid for. Years of experience eating on railroad trains had caused us to assume this was a matter of fixed policy.

"In many instances," says the account of the arrests, "the meat portion was greatly reduced." Don't try to tell us that it took the FBI to discover this.

Can You Remember — Away back when the Japs used to think the height of hard luck was an earthquake?

Japanese leaders concede it must have been something they ate, but they are not ready to admit it was rice.

Mr. Andrew Spring has become a neral partner in our firm, "Outwater & Wells"—Newspaper notice.

Moving M. E. Van Realte to remark that the outlook is damper and damper.

Love on your wedding day I send; Because the war is at an end.

Hand Power Preferred By This Colored Warrior

The uses to which our soldiers on the battle fronts put the gifts we sent them were sometimes more important than we suspected. Witness the letter a Negro lad serving in the South Pacific jungles wrote to his sweetheart down in Alabama.

After thanking the young lady for the electric razor she had sent him, the soldier pleaded:

"Mandy, honey, please, when you send me another razor, send me the old-fashioned kind, you know—big and plain and sharp. I ain't got no time nohow to hunt up no electric socket when them old Japs come at me!"

ST. JOHN'S PARISH ACTIVITIES

Mothers' Club Meets

The new officers presided at the meeting of the Mothers' Club held at the school on Sept. 13. The members decided to purchase two new beds for the Sisters and to make minor repairs to the basement, rest rooms and playground equipment.

The room mothers are: Mrs. H. J. House for first and second grade rooms; Mrs. Frank Graff, third and fourth grades; Mrs. J. E. Devine, fifth and sixth grades, and Mrs. Alex Wendland, for seventh and eighth grades.

The room award went to Sister Killian.

The following new members were welcomed into the club: Mrs. R. F. McKenna, Mrs. D. B. Vickery, Mrs. Forrest Kelly and Mrs. Robt. Zuberbuehler.

The meeting of the Altar Society followed. The members decided to place a box at the entrance of church so anyone wishing to donate for flowers to be used in church may do so.

Miss Nancyanne O'Keefe was admitted into the club as a new member.

Council of Catholic Women Meet. Mrs. Paul Bendele of Dunlay was elected president of the Council of Catholic Women, at a meeting held at the school on Sept. 13. Mrs. Bendele succeeds Mrs. M. L. McDowell.

The clothing drive for the refugees in Europe, the Philippines and China is well under way and has been extended to Friday, Sept. 28. This appeal is urgent and all contributions should be at the school by the 28th so the clothing may be packed for shipment.

Miss Nancyanne O'Keefe was received into the club as a new member.

Organize Junior Music Club

On Sept. 17 the seventh and eighth grades of St. John's School organized a Junior Music Club. Sister M. Germaine acting as counselor. The Junior officers elected were as follows: President, Charles Ney; secretary-treasurer, Cecilia Schueffing; chairman of committees, Wynn Kampe.

The following aims were adopted: 1-To learn musical words and names; their meaning, pronunciation, spelling.

2-To learn to listen to good music and appreciate it.

3-To train our memories.

4-To play, speak and sing before others.

5-To be courteous and thoughtful, always.

6-To be a real part of the great increasing number of junior musicians and music lovers of our great America.

The club drew up a Constitution and several by-laws; also, planned to open each meeting with the National Junior Pledge, and to keep a musical scrapbook.

The following members were present: Charles Nev, Doris Wernet, Alleen Koch, Cecilia Schueffing, Dorothy Jean Braden, Leora Hermes, Wynn Kampe, Klemens Kampe, Robbie Zerr, Margaret A. Renken, Kay Frances Laake, Frances Seibel, Lloyd Tschirhart, Jimmie Wendland and Roy Meyer.

MRS. BADER DIES OF BURNS

Mrs. George Bader of the Biry community died in the Santa Rosa Hospital, San Antonio, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 15, 1945, from burns received that morning in her farm home. Her husband was at the barn when he heard her scream and saw her run from the kitchen in flames. After giving temporary relief, she was rushed from Devine by ambulance to the San Antonio hospital where she passed away at 4 p. m.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Monday, from St. Joseph's Catholic church, Devine, with her nephew, Rev. Gerald Boehme of Yoakum, assisted by Rev. Vaitonis, conducting the services. Pallbearers were nephews, Alvin, Elmer and Clyde Bader, Francis Bohl, Paul Keller Jr., and Joe Vollmer.

Mrs. Bader is survived by her husband; two sons, Supt. Matt Bader of LaCoste, and August Bader, recently discharged from overseas service; two brothers, Paul Keller of Devine and Matt Keller, San Antonio, and two sisters, Mrs. Leo Bohl and Miss Theresa Keller of Devine, and a large number of relatives and friends.

CHALMERS-WARD

Miss Evadna Ward of Yancey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Ward, and Mr. I. R. Chalmers, Aviation Student, Amarillo Army Air Field, Amarillo, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. O'Kane of East Orange, New Jersey, were united in marriage Saturday, Sept. 1, 1945, at First Chapel, Amarillo Army Air Field, Chaplain Floyd M. Britt reading the ceremony.

Given in marriage by Lt. Ricker, the bride was attractive in her wedding costume suit of pale lavender wool. She wore navy blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Coy Berry, the bride's only attendant, was attired in a light brown suit and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The bridegroom's mother and sister from East Orange, N. J., were present at the wedding and entertained with a dinner at the Capital Hotel after the ceremony. Mrs. Lucian Ward, the bride's mother of Yancey, was also present at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers will make their home in Amarillo while he is in training.

WANT TO SELL YOUR PROPERTY?

We have frequent inquiries for real estate—especially small homes in Hondo, small acreages near town and small ranches suitable for small herds or flocks. If you have anything in real estate you wish to sell, list it with the Hondo Land Co. and let us find you a buyer. See us at the Anvil Herald office or ring us at Phone 127.

HOUSE WANTED TO RENT

Permanent family of three want nice two-bedroom house or apartment, in town or close by. Not connected with army post. See Mr. Larkin at Nessly's, Hondo. Telephone 129. tfe

Due to demands on our limited space and lack of sufficient help, long articles are out "for the duration." Just can't handle 'em. Correspondents and contributors, please be brief, and sympathize rather than censure if your items are crowded out entirely. tf

Current issues of this paper are for sale at Windrow's Drug Store at 5c a copy. Oblige us all by informing any inquirers. tf
